Memorial Exercises.

On account of the funeral of the late President McKinley places of business were closed, Thursday, from noon to 3 p. m. The bells were tolled and flags were at half-mast. Many of the stores and some residences were draped in mourning.

The committee on the exercises in the Opera House for the evening arranged a program. The committee consisted of Wm. F. Jones, chairman; W. C. Leavitt, Major B. F. Bradbury, H. D. Smith and H. L. Horne.

The Norway Light Infantry, Capt. Nash and 35 men, Harry Rust Post and the Woman's Relief Corps were present as organizations and the Opera House was well filled with citizens.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Mrs. Lee M. Smith and daughter are visiting her folks in Oufield.

Mrs. G. L. Walker of Somerville is visiting here and at Mechanic Falls.

Rev. H. L. Plummer will preach in the M. E. church, next Sunday at 10.30 a. m.

Mrs. W. H. Lovejoy of Woodsville, N. H., has visited at Helen Noyes, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chute of Portland were at Friesland Howe's and attended the fair.

Wina Jewett went to Boston, Tuesday. She is a pupil in the training school at the C. C. Hospital.

Alice Wright of Boston and Sara Jones of Malden, Mass., have recently visited at Mrs. Addie Rowe's.

Chas. K. Osgood of Biddeford, a late of the army and from the Philippines, is staying at Frank Pingree's.

There were services in memory of our late President at the Episcopal church, Sept. 20, conducted by Rev. C. H. Abbott of Portland.

The Ladies' Circle of the M. E. church will furnish a harvest dinner at their vestry on Thursday, Sept. 26. Dinner at 12: supper at 6 p. m.

The Browning Club visited Mrs. J. B. Hamlin at her cottage at Cape Elizabeth, the past week. They enjoyed a shore dinner and were pleasantly entertained.

The closed cars of the N. & P. St. Ry. have appeared again, this week. They are all shiny with new paint and new lettering outside and fresh varnish within.

At the next meeting of the U. O. G. C. the degrees will be conferred upon a large number of new members. All members of the order are requested to be present.

Charles W. Brooks is at home from Old Orchard where he has been steward at the Old Orchard House during the season. He will start for Bermuda in about six weeks.

John Symonds, superintendent of the B. F. Spinnery Co. shoe factory, is away on his vacation to his home at Exeter, N. H. He intends to move his family here, this fall.

Mrs. Jesse Edwards entertained the Veranda Club at the Witt cottage by the lake, Thursday last. The club, which made with Mrs. Horace Cole, Saturday evening at 7.00, to arrange for the coming fall.

Dr. H. L. Bartlett and oldest child, Master Donald, are going about town looking lonesome. Mrs. Bartlett and the two other children are visiting her parents, Hon. and Mrs. Joseph F. Stearns, in Lovell.

The employees of the H. F. Webb corn shop recently presented to Mr. and Mrs. Almora A. Everett a nice couch, and other useful articles were presented to them by relatives and friends. The presentation occurred, last Saturday evening. Of course it goes without saying that the recipients were much pleased.

Mrs. Emma Belle Kearney of New York city will sing at the Universalist church, Sunday morning, Sept. 22d. Mrs. Kearney was for many years a cantalto in the Congregational church on Madison avenue, New York, has sung with the celebrated organist, Geo. W. Morgan, and has been heard many times in oratorio.

Of course it is natural that we claim every good thing for our public square and when we stated that the Postmaster Stiles arranged the picnic of the weather we were probably in error. Postmaster Samuel F. Davis of South Paris claims to be the one who first made the arrangement with the weather master. We willingly correct the error and set matters right.

Norway Municipal Court.

Silas E. Coolidge came down from Bethel to the fair, and took aboard too much tanglefoot, and was arrested and brought before the court and fined $1.00 and costs, amounting to ten dollars and more.

VOLUME XXXII.

OXFORD BEARS' ANNUAL FROLIC.

FIFTY-NINTH CATTLE SHOW EXHIBIT

A LARGE DISPLAY OF LIVE STOCK.

Interesting Horse Racing--Lively Pulling--A Big Crowd of People Notwithstanding the Rainy First Day--Automobiles, Angora Goats, Belgian Hares, Flying Moores, and other attractions--Cackling Hens and Shouting Fakirs.

The People.
About 6000 were on the grounds, Wednesday and Thursday, each day. Wednesday's receipts were about $80 more than Thursday. Wednesday, there was more than an ordinary first-day crowd and Thursday, not quite the usual attendance for the middle day. Secretary King tells us that Wednesday's ticket sales amounted to $1,021.65 and Wednesday's to $973.00. That includes 25c tickets for adults, 25c tickets for teams and 15c tickets for children. Many of the tickets bought on Wednesday were not used till Thursday, and also there were more people using committee tickets and exhibition tickets on the second day. On that day there was a much larger number of people to be seen in the grand stand and the crowd bothered us more in moving about the grounds than on the day before. You can make your own estimate of Thursday's crowd was 50 per cent larger than that of Wednesday.

Annual Meeting.
Promptly at one o'clock, Friday, President Wm. J. Wheeler called the meeting to order to elect a president, secretary and treasurer and two trustees. The following were elected to serve two years: President, Wm. J. Wheeler, South Paris. Secretary and Treasurer, A. C. T. King, South Paris. Trustees, W. O. Frothingham, South Paris and Eugene E. Andrews, Norway.

Friday Forenoon Races.
The track events of Friday opened with the gentlemen's driving class. The following six men competed with their horses for the four prizes: John B. Robinson of Oxford, Theodore Thayer of South Paris, A. D. Cummings of Oxford, Harry Dudley of Buckfield and Charles Martin of Buckfield.

The six horses were inspected by the judges and then trotted a mile on the track together, the first half-mile at a 12-mile-an-hour speed, the second half at full speed. In this working out around the track, Theodore Thayer started in first position and kept it for the mile. The awards were: John B. Robinson first, Theodore Thayer second, Fred Scott third, A. D. Cummings fourth. The judges were W. T. Pike of Stark, N. H., A. D. Benson of Hartford and A. C. Illy of Gorham.

The 2.45 class was next called. Four horses started for the $100 purse. Robinson C. drew first position and kept it to the end of the half-mile, when the black stallion Al. Wilkes passed him and seemed to win the heat easily. He won the second and third heats without being passed, although the others pushed him hard enough to put him into the 2.35 class.

The summary:
2.45 Class, Trot or Pace, Purse, $100.
Alf Wilkes, M. J. Abbott Wilkes (Russell) 1 1 1
Robinson C. b g (Stark) 2 2 2
Jim Dwyer, bl g (Jordan) 3 3 3

Miscellaneous Devility.
Wednesday night, some human fiend visited the stall where the four-year-old cattle belonging to Daniel A. Tuttle of Buckfield were hitched, and mutilated the near one's neck with a knife. Two of the bad cuts were made right where the pressure of the yoke would come. These pressure of the yoke would come. These pressure of the yoke would come.

There were some people interested as owner or gambler, and the object was to put Tuttle out of the match. He tells us that he has no idea as to the identity of the miscreant.

Nathan E. Morrill of Buckfield had a steer mutilated by some burning fluid also turned on his neck. Those were also valuable pulling cattle.

Such things as this were never known to happen on these grounds before. At State fair and other places, that kind of devilry has occasionally been perpetrated. It would go hard with the guilty one if he should happen to be caught.

Put Ahead One Day.
The gently falling rain of Tuesday afternoon caused the trustees to put the exhibition ahead one day. Therefore Wednesday, if it doesn't rain, will be the first day and everything will follow as though there was no attempt to hold a fair, on Tuesday.

A. B. Abbott's pocket-book is at this office. It was picked up by J. H. Randall of Harrison.

Chas. M. Pulester and wife of Yarmouth were in town, this week. They report the Norway colony in that town as flourishing first rate.

J. E. Henry has a contract with Ethan Willis at Rumford Falls to paint outside and inside and paper fourteen houses which Mr. Willis is building there. He will go to the Falls, next week.

Mrs. C. E. Rines and son of Haverhill, Mass., has been visiting friends in this vicinity, this week. She returned home, Friday. She says that Emma Drake formerly of this village rooms at her house.

SOUTH PARIS.

Thursday's Memorial Exercises.
Places of business were closed from noon to 3 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 13, and flags floated at half mast. Many residences and business houses were suitably draped in mourning for the late President.

Appropriate public exercises were held in the evening at New Hall, with Judge Geo. A. Wilkes presiding officer. The hall was heavily and artistically draped, and on the stage was a picture of President McKinley.

Remarks were made by Hon. Jas. S. Wright, Rev. T. J. Ramsdell, Dr. W. E. Burks and Judge Wilkes.

Mrs. Geo. Briggs presided at the organ, and Nearer, my God, to Thee, and America were sung.

There was a large attendance of citizens who deeply mourn the loss to the nation.

The little girl of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dean died on Wednesday afternoon. She was two and one-half years old.

Mrs. John J. Emery is visiting by her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Keefe of Portland. Mr. Keefe is the well known Middle street druggist.

Hothard Shaw is visiting his sister, Mrs. Paul D. Higgins, at Castigan. His father says that he got a letter from Hothard Thursday, and that it read: "Please send me a dollar."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cotton left Windor, Vermont, Monday morning on a pleasant trip to Maine and Massachusetts, thence to Tampa, Fla. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Puffer.

Wednesday afternoon, the community was startled by a report that George Jones had dropped dead. The truth was that Mr. Jones was suddenly prostrated by a severe attack of acute indigestion, which made him unconscious for a time. Thursday saw him outdoors again.

BUCKFIELD.

In Honor of the Late President.
In honor of the late President memorial services were held at both churches on Sunday. By reason of a general proclamation by the President of the United States, the late President McKinley occur at the Methodist church, Thursday at 2 p. m. instead of 2 p. m. of Sunday following as intended. Rev. Mr. Snow, temporarily staying at Paris Hill, is expected to speak.

Lorenzo Corser and wife of Bridgton spent Sunday with her father, Joseph Towle, in this village.

Some of the farmers have begun to dig their potatoes and report a better crop than was expected.

The people of this place were very much shocked to hear of the death of our President McKinley.

Charles Stanley, who has been quite sick from the effects of a carbuncle on the back of his neck, is gaining a little.

King Coolbath, who is staying with Amos Blazo for the summer, is spending a few days in Dover at his old home. Mrs. Amos Blazo went with him.

There were Cattle Show Balls at Norway Opera House, Norway, and New Hall, South Paris, Wednesday evening.

BETHEL.

Memorial Services.
The death of our third martyred President is an event in which the two extremes of humanity are placed together before us. The one being a man ranking at away among the first numbers in all the high and noble principles which go to make the ideal chief magistrate of the most enlightened and powerful nation of the world, and the other a low, shiftless, ignorant, cowardly sneak in human form, whose sole ambition had been influenced by stronger minds, of bad blood, to do this terrible deed, with not the least fraction of reason, as the nation is at peace within its own borders and with all the nations of the earth. This deed will be stamped in history as among the most dastardly imposed upon an enlightened people. The people of Bethel and vicinity will hold memorial exercises at the Congregational church, Thursday at 2 o'clock. All business places closed for the afternoon.

A New Post-Office.
C. N. Swan is postmaster at the new post-office, North Bethel. The location is commonly known as Swan's corner.

Monday, there was a small explosion in the acetylene gas outfit at Prof. Wm. R. Chappmans in Mayville.

McKinley memorial services in the Congregational church, at 2 o'clock, Thursday, in charge of Brown Post, G. A. R.

A large number of Bethel people went on the Sunday excursion to Portland and the islands, the reported last one for the season.

A case, Kilgore vs. Thompson, from Newry, was brought before Justice Bennett, last Monday, and settled in favor of plaintiff.

The Lovejoys have The Elms in position now to be connected by the new building which will contain the dining hall to the enlarged Bethel House.

Lucinda Godwin of Bethel, aged 75 years, died, the 11th inst. She made her home with her brother, H. R. Godwin, esq., of the Mountain Grove House.

Rev. Insley I. Bean of Kennebunk and his brother, F. I. Bean of Mason, with nephews of Albany passed through this place, Tuesday, on their way for a week's outing at the lakes.

Many of our Bethel people have decided to take in the county fair, provided that it didn't rain the greater part of the time. The unpleasant weather at our fair, last week, creates a desire to attend at Norway.

Last Sabbath, Rev. F. E. Barton spoke in fitting terms to the memory of our martyred President from the following words, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." His discourse was brief, saying that his heart was too full to present a lengthy discourse. The words spoken were a high tribute to the honored dead.

Prof. Chapman's plant for furnishing gas for lighting his premises in Mayville, being situated in the stable basement, for some reason sprung a leak, filling the basement with gas to such extent that an explosion followed, demolishing all windows that were not open and raising the floor above several inches. The clapping about the basement required renovaling to bring them back in place. Mrs. Chapman was passing the stable at the time of the explosion when a window was blown out, but just behind her.

GOOD MORNING!

Perhaps it isn't a good morning for you, though. Maybe that headache or backache is a little worse. They have a way of growing worse if they are not attended to. They are not pleasant companions for a man, all day and night, are they? You think they are only the result of a cold, or perhaps that you are over tired. Possibly they are, but the probability is that any such symptoms as specks before the eyes, dull pain in head, pains across the back, or dyspepsia, come from an improper condition of the BLADDER OR KIDNEYS. There is one sure thing to do. Buy a bottle of and try it for a while, and see if the symptoms do not all disappear and leave you feeling well again. It only costs $1.00 per bottle at any drugist's.

You don't want to take the chance of being laid up sick, and run the risk of a big bill for medical attendance, when it is such a simple matter to follow our advice. Our Remedy is pleasant to take, and the favorable results are almost immediate, and you avoid all the disagreeable features of loss of position, care for those at home and physical suffering for yourself. This applies to women as well as to men. If you want further details and testimonials, send postal to us for Booklet A, which we will mail free.

Native Poetry.

[It was endless to comment where compliments are so frequently made. The following lines are the work of Peterburg, a native of the town of Peterburg, Me.]

Tune, The Humorous Glen.
How sweet on the mountain where heath bells are glowing
To wander and list to the busy wild bees,
Or stray through the grove where the wild flowers are blowing
And catch the rich odors that float on the breeze.

Thou' sweet be the breezes from the bosom of roses
Enchanting the hum of wild bees on the hills,
O, Mary, my Mary, far sweeter than those is
The glow of the pink, nor the snow of the lilies.

Can match her soft cheek—O, the beam of her eye
When she flies on the wings of the sylph of the valley
To gladden the poor cottage where misery lies.
O daughter of Beauty, companion's fair blossom,
Can pity, soft pity, alone the heart move?
O, come and repose thy young cares in my bosom,
I'll cherish them there till they bloom into love.

These "very" sentimental lines appear under the heading of "From the pen of a native of a hundred years they may be of interest to modern lovers. The paper was found among the papers of the late William Cobb of East Buckfield, and the son, J. W. Cobb, kindly allowed the writer to copy the same. G. TITTON.

Written for the Advertiser.
A Water-Color Sketch.

A swimming went young Algonquin, into the pond, to take a swim,
And he found it cold and wet,
Persisted manfully.
"Where troubles snook and play,
And as he had no bathing suit
He swam in his shirt and pants.
But lest a socialist tramp
Should penetrate his screen
He hid his clothing safe and sound
Where it would not be seen.
And then he took deep breath,
And then, he plunged into the drink
Three maidens from the city's haunts
Came strolling down the stream,
They thought it beautiful there, but things
Are seldom what they seem.
These merry maids on pleasure bent
They dug some giddy angle-worms
And really thought they fished.
Three weary hours those idle maids
Confectionery ate,
Chewed chewing gum and giggled some
And wasted good old time.
But as the fish were all defunct
They never got a bite.
While Algonquin, heroic lad,
Was simply out of sight.
A mother came passed by that way,
A-brooding peacefully.
She says the way he kept concealed
Was comfortable to see.
But as the mooley cow drew near
A-rubbing inclined,
Those maidens who were living among
And dived a down the wind.
The golden sun rode lowly
And the birds sang in the west:
With feelings most unholly
Young Algonquin pressed.
Now with morals grown ruminative
And crookedly inclined
His heart is most anxious
Towards all of womankind.

Sunny Side of Farm Life.
There is a sunny side in all departments upon the farm if one chooses to make it so. Life upon the farm is not so monotonous as a city man may make it. There is a quietude about the life of a farmer, and the promise of a serene old age which no other calling offers.

What can be more gladdening to the heart of the farmer than to see his crops and his flocks, watching them develop into maturity. As he starts out in the spring with a bag of seed in one hand, his hoe in the other, does he not stand at the very foundation of the race? He goes on his living among the trees and flowers, breathing God's sweet air. He watches his flocks and herds feed upon the green of the carpeted valleys and the sunny slopes. On the growing crops he watches the slanting rain fall.

The rustling leaves make music about him as he stoops to plant the little tree which in years to come will shade the children yet to be. What person or persons have ever sunshine there the farmer? He devotes his time and energy to his farm. He can walk forth into the green forest, or seek the sociability of friends and who is there to say nay? A nice garden and abundant crops are his reward. The bushes and weeds are assigned to eternal destruction, that the beauty of the fields be not marred.

Those beautiful Jerseys! How his eye sparkles as he strokes their glossy coats, for he knows they respond to the good care given them.

A thrifty farmer takes delight in caring for and making a study of his crops. He is not likely to slight the beauties of nature that have been so familiar to eyes from childhood. The farmer can see the sunny side of farm life and fully appreciate his daily surroundings.

But many a farmer, I don't not, has from year to year gone through the farm labor of cultivating, sowing and reaping, unsatisfied by the glorious inspiration that would come with the knowledge of his opportunity to commune with nature with nature's God, and heedless that only an omnipotent creator could establish the laws by which he receives a reward for his labor. Nor does he ever realize what faith he has been exercising in the Creator as he has sown his seed spring after spring.

As he stirs the earth with his plow, and sinks it down to the earth and comes out clean and bright, so should he learn to keep his mind clean and bright by active use. To him there is a divine lesson in every seed as it sinks into the yellow soil, and from being hidden there awakes to a new life and springs forth to beautify the earth with its verdure, to give hope by the blossoms, and at last to yield sheaves for the harvest. And as he gathers in the harvest, he receives a reward for his faith and opportunity, the summer of pleasure and hope, and the autumn of harvest and reward, the winter should find him a happy, contented husbandman.

Now for a look behind the portals of the home. The wife and mother, smiling and happy, has stepped aside from the well worn paths of her mother, and no longer toils with the up and down churn and inconveniences of the days of yore. Churning in the days of yore took from 20 minutes to 24 days, owing to the temperature of the cream, which was guessed at instead of being correctly ascertained by a thermometer.

The labor saving machines for all branches of domestic work are in the home, lightening the labor of the woman who resides therein. She has time to tend her flowers, visit a sick friend, or superintend a donation for the minister. The farmer's wife should not fail to seek the beauties of her home surroundings. Have some speciality that will bring her into the open air, as the fresh air is health giving. There is a pleasure in a well kept strawberry bed or a nice flower garden, and a few moments each day works wonders in the care of the mind.

Teach the children to love flowers and impart to them a love for the beautiful and graceful adornments of life. The love of flowers is refining and elevating. Teach them to look upon the birds with reverence and to be kind to all domestic animals. Teach them to respect their fellowmen, and to cultivate a contented mind and there will be sunshine all around you, and having accepted nature as our teacher we shall find her lessons to be most abundant in the sweetest and grandest surprises.

That tired feeling is a burden you need not carry. Hood's Sarsaparilla will rid you of it and renew your courage.

Some Things Peculiar.
"I think she is simply distressing," remarked one young girl of another.

"They know a good deal about some special thing I have no doubt," said a man from a neighboring village in speaking about summer boarders. "But for general knowledge give me a country man every time. Why they'll come into the post-office and say, 'I want a one-cent postage stamp.' I hand it out to them, and they will take it and gravely say, 'How much is it?'"

A man of artistic temperament never worries about the money he owes. No; but it nearly kills him when he doesn't get money that is owing to him.

"Spell ferment and give its definition," requested the teacher.

"F-a-r-m-e-n-t, to work," responded a diminutive maiden.

"Now place a sentence, so that I may be sure you understand its meaning," said the teacher.

"In the morning I would rather play out-of-doors than to ferment in the schoolhouse," returned the small scholar.

Gen. Twitchell.

Gen. A. S. Twitchell of Gorham, N. H., died on Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Maine General Hospital in Portland, where he had been confined for about three weeks, with a complication of troubles, necessitating a serious operation.

Albert S., the oldest child of Joseph A. and Orinda L. (Mason) Twitchell was born at Bethel, Sept. 16, 1840. He attended the village schools and Gould Academy and for several years was a school teacher. He was in the office of Samuel F. Gibson of Bethel, engaged in the study of law, when the civil war broke out. He took an active part in the work of promoting measures for preserving the Union. His first public office was enrolling officer for the Bethel district, at the time of the draft for soldiers. In December, 1865, he enlisted in the Seventh Maine Battery, and with the exception of a period of sickness served through the war, being mustered out at Augusta, June 21, 1865. He was commissary sergeant of the battery.

In the same year he was admitted to the bar in Maine and in the following year to the bar in New Hampshire, and located at Gorham, where he had ever since been his home, and where he had a good law practice.

The general was an ardent Republican and took an active part in the public affairs of the town and State. He was three years railroad commissioner of the State of New Hampshire; on the staffs of Quaternmaster General with rank of Brigadier General; nine years postmaster at Gorham; several years selectman, and served fifteen years continuously as a member of the school board. He was United States consul at Santiago de Cuba under the administration of President Harrison, and as a veteran he served two years as president of the New Hampshire Veterans' Association, and two years as judge advocate of the department of New Hampshire, G. A. R.

He had taken the thirty-second degree in Scottish Rite Masonry, and also belonged to the Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias.

He married Emma A. Howland of Gorham in 1860, and had two children. His wife and oldest child are not living. His daughter, Rita May, 13 years of age, survives him. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Walton Vignat, of Hartford, Ct.

Gen. Twitchell was a man of the highest integrity and was of a genial disposition that made him many friends. He was universally loved and respected by his comrades and by all who knew him. He was held in high esteem all over his State and had always been prominent in all of her affairs.

Edwin P. Hamblen.

Edwin P. Hamblen died, Tuesday morning, Sept. 10, at Ingalls Grove, Bridgton, of tuberculosis of the lungs. He was born in Lovell, in the year 1870, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hamblen. He was a member of the Oriental Lodge and Chapter, also of the St. Albans Commandery.

Mr. Hamblen at the time of his first serious attack of illness was employed by Smith & Tabbets Co., of Portland, as traveling salesman. He was obliged, however, to sever his connection with this house about three years ago as he was strongly threatened with tuberculosis of the lungs. He passed a year or so at Denver, Colorado, and then returned East again, spending a few months among the Adirondacks. From here he returned to Maine nearly a well man.

An attack of appendicitis necessitating a painful operation brought on a relapse of his former trouble from which he never recovered. In the early part of the summer a cottage for his occupancy was erected at Ingalls Grove in the hope that the ozone of the pines might be beneficial to him. This cottage he occupied at the time of his death.

The deceased leaves a brother, John G. Hamblen, of the Wales & Hamblen Co., and a sister, Gertrude Hamblen, a teacher in the public schools of Bridgton.

The burial rites were conducted by his Masonic brethren at the home of the deceased on Gage street, Bridgton. The interment was in the Forest Hill Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

The Fallacy of Mere Cheapness.

Every step in the development of merchandising has been in the direction of legitimacy, integrity and liberality.

The successful retail merchant of today is a man of character. He educates his trade, influences their tastes, directs their selections; uses his technical knowledge to protect their ignorance of values.

The trouble with a good many dealers is their anxiety to pander to an unhealthy popular demand, to give people what they want regardless of consequences.

This is all right up to a certain point, but the real merchant breathes the tide and says when the craze for cheapness must stop. Of course the people demand cheap goods, call for lower prices, clamor for bargains, but always with the hope that the articles will prove better than the price.

They do not know values. The dealer who, through a desire for profit, fear of competition, or desire for sensation substitutes poor materials or seamps the workmanship, is a dupe of his own sophistry and it means loss of public confidence, loss of trade, loss of self-respect.

The retailer who goes upon the principal that "a sucker is born every minute" is merely calling attention to his own birthday. There is no price at which a merchant can sell trash and not suffer for it. There is no real success, no stability, no future short of selling the right goods, and doing the right thing.

HANOVER.

At Camp Bruin.

Mrs. Ed Cummings and sister, Mrs. E. Howard, and Gabriel and Pearl Elliott are camping at Camp Bruin.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce from Lancaster, Mass., are visiting at Mrs. Joe Russell's.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, who have been visiting Mrs. Roberts, returned to Peabody, Saturday.

Belle Elliott is visiting Etta Howe for a few days. We are always pleased to meet this cheery lady.

Mrs. Otis Hayford has again been obliged to return to Maine General Hospital for treatment for cancer.

Mrs. Boylen and daughter Lillian, who have been visiting Helen Staples, from Dorchester, Mass., are spending this week at Bethel House.

Quite a number from Hanover attended Bethel fair, Wednesday. Those who received tickets to go home considered themselves fortunate, and they thought they might get a fair among themselves next time.

"Nearer My God to Thee," President McKinley's favorite hymn, was sung in the churches, Sunday.

Charles Miller, the man arrested, Friday night, in New York on suspicion of being the man who left Berlin, N. H., saying he was going to Buffalo to kill President Roosevelt, was arraigned in President Roosevelt, and committed to the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital for examination as to his sanity. The man talked in a rambling manner and to all appearances acted as one insane.

Fish Commissioner Stanley has succeeded in stirring up quite a commotion among the mill owners on Crooked River, by his order forbidding them to throw any sawdust, or the waste material from the mills, into the river. It is claimed that this order is in accordance with a law passed by the last Maine Legislature, but it seems that the mill owners are somewhat rebellious, and are inclined to test the law. It is claimed that several eminent lawyers have looked into the matter carefully and given opinions, saying that the law is defective, and cannot be enforced.

HORSE RAISING.

Why Farmers Should Produce Raw Material For Horsemen.

While the farmer who is not a horseman cannot produce and should let fast horses alone, he has certain advantages as a horse producer that ought to be recognized and that ought to shape his course. These advantages are: (1) A large amount of cheap feed, which puts this industry on much the same basis as beef production and leads to the common statement that it costs but little more to grow a horse than to grow a steer; (2) abundant range for proper exercise of growing animals; (3) he is himself an extensive user of horse labor. Here is an important matter.

The market calls mainly for geldings, and I take it that, broadly speaking, our farm work should be largely done by mares that are fully able also to produce a foal each year. The feasibility of this plan has been abundantly shown by experience. Farm labor is not so severe nor so constant as to preclude the use of breeding mares. In fact, the farm horse should be a breeding animal to fully occupy her time and pay for her maintenance during the long periods of short work and comparative idleness. On a farm of moderate size I like, at least, one span of geldings that are always ready for any kind of work, but it is expensive to keep a horse a year for what he can do the working season, and I have found breeding mares entirely satisfactory and far cheaper. Besides, one can afford a surplus of this kind of horse power, which is frequently almost a necessity for a limited time.

I expect to meet with the objection that it is too much trouble to raise foals for working teams, but that matter is greatly magnified in men's minds. To be sure many farmers owning both smooth and rough lands may be able to let the mares run idle and do the work with geldings, but it is possible only on cheap lands.

Putting it from the other side, the mare that is to devote a year to giving birth to a horse that will go upon the markets to do the ordinary work of the world—that mare must do something besides all this; she must work or the horse will cost too much, and farm work is well adapted to her conditions.

Not being a horseman, the grain farmer should confine his efforts to the production of such classes of horses as require plenty of good feed and care, but little or no artificial development.

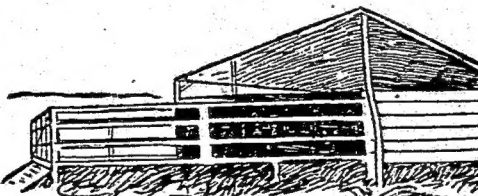

He is admirably adapted to the business of raising heavy horses, though he will not care to keep 1,800 pound mares for farm work. He can use 1,300 to 1,500 pound mares, which, if good milkers, with the proper sire, will produce an excellent class of heavy horses.

With the right sires he can keep and profitably use a class of mares that will produce good delivery horses, hack and bus horses and a fair grade of gentlemen's drivers.

All these horses will need to be developed after leaving the farm, but it can produce the raw material and ought to do it.—E. Davenport in Report of Kansas Board of Agriculture.

Feeding Pen For Fattening Pigs.

Feeding floors are becoming more and more popular as a sanitary measure and preventive of disease. Describing the one here shown, an American Agriculturist correspondent says it should be three or four feet above the ground, so that perfect ventilation is secured and the harboring of rats and mice made impossible. The floor can be made of inch lumber and any desired size. A strong board fence must be put up all around it to prevent the hogs being crowded off and injured.

At one end of the pen an approach should be built up to the gate, which can be closed while the feed is being placed on the floor. At the other end of which the feed is stored. The floor must be cleaned after each feeding. This floor is partially under roof.

Crop Shrinkage.

Among the many lessons which the Michigan station extracts from its investigations into corn shrinkage is the one that if a definite number of pounds of corn in the ear is to be recognized as a bushel a wise farmer will sell his crop in the fall.

Oats when thrashed, after passing through the sweating process in the stack or mow, appear to shrink but little thereafter.

Hay when put in the mow varies greatly in the amount of moisture it contains, depending on the weather in which it is cured. In the dry climate of the west the shrinkage is usually smaller than in a comparatively humid climate of the eastern states.

Roughage and Commercial Feed. Rhode Island farmers who have plenty of corn fodder, silage, corn stover, hay, oat hay, millet hay or other coarse fodders (roughage) need to buy feeding stuffs rich in protein in order to compound properly balanced rations for their stock; hence it cannot be economical for them to buy feeding stuffs which, like their own roughage, contain only small quantities of this ingredient.

Don't delay a minute. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

NORTH LOVELL.

Too Much Corn for the Cans.

The boys are at home from the cornshop for a few days, too large a crop of corn and beans for the number of cans provided and had to send away for a supply. Probably the workers won't mind if they have a short rest.

Mrs. L. E. McAllister is still in Peru. David Lord has moved to Lovell village.

Mrs. John McAllister called on friends here, Friday.

A sound of wedding bells in the near future, listen!

Mrs. Marshall Evans is in Lewiston visiting relatives.

Orville McAllister and wife attended the State Fair at Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McAllister called on relatives here, Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Fox and son Henry visited Mrs. Abbie McKee, Saturday.

Myra McAllister is out driving, pleasant days, with her pretty little team.

Woodbury Gray and wife spent the day at Perley McKee's, last Wednesday. C. M. Harriman is hauling the most of the lumber for the Garcelon buildings.

The school has been in session since Sept. 9, taught by Emma McAllister of Lovell.

Virgil Horr made a short stop here, Friday. He was after another load of goods for David Lord.

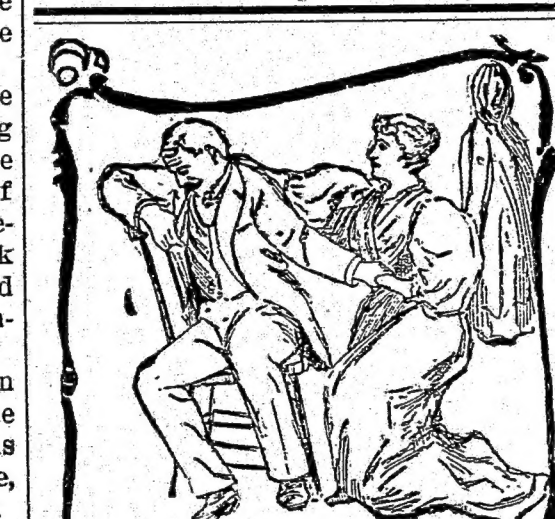

Will Allen was at F. L. Harriman's, Saturday night and Sunday. Master Guy is delighted when his grandpa Allen comes.

Mrs. S. J. Hill has a hollyhock that is ten feet tall and has over a hundred and forty buds and blossoms on it at the present time.

Erschel and Clara Gammon of Norway and Mabel Brooks of Milton Plantation were visiting relatives and calling on friends here recently.

Mrs. Benjamin Palmer and Mrs. G. M. Harriman called on Mrs. Garcelon at the Lake, Saturday. With several other callers they crossed the lake in the steamer, Esther G., to the island and called on Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith.

Charles Wilson and wife of Norway were at Frank Wilson's, last Friday. Mr. Wilson rents a piano every summer to Mr. Arnhelter at Pine Grove Cottage. He brings it and comes after it and this time seemed to combine pleasure with business by bringing his wife and visiting his uncle.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Make well kidneys—they are not a new medicine—not an experiment—they've been tested and thousands endorse their merit. Here's a case of it: dorse their merit.

Mr. J. W. Parker, carpenter in the wood turning department of the Fitchburg Car Shops, Fitchburg, Mass., says: "In the month of February, 1898, I was seized by a terrible man who called on me to publicly give my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave him for publication has appeared in our Fitchburg papers. I was interviewed a second time over two years afterwards when I told my interviewer the following: Ever since my original statement appeared in the Fitchburg papers, I have been repeatedly asked by people in the shops where I work on the street, and by callers at my house if the said statement were true. I often wished it were in Halifax, and in allowing my name to appear as an endorser of Doan's Kidney Pills during the summer year, I want it thoroughly understood that they proved of great benefit and from my experience I can conscientiously say they are one patent medicine upon which people can depend to do as represented."

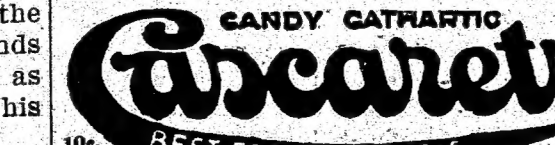

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

McKinley's Death.
President McKinley died, Saturday morning at 2:15. The sad news was received in Norway with many expressions of regret. The village bells were tolled.

A number of the windows in the different stores and places of business had the picture of our late President draped in mourning, and flags were hung at half mast in the village.

Was it the Work of an Incurable?
The buildings of Mrs. Nathan York on the Waterford road were destroyed by fire, last Saturday evening. The family were away and the fire started in barn. A good cow and hog were burnt. Some of the furniture was saved. Loss about $1,500. No insurance.

The buildings of John York, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Nathan York, who lives but a short distance from her, were burnt, Monday evening, Sept. 9. Mr. York was absent and it almost seems that these fires had an incendiary origin. The authorities are making an investigation.

The Little Hatchet and Cherry Tree.
One of Geo. A. Cole's black cherry trees came before Judge Davis, last week, as well as the boy who was accused of cutting it down. The tree was cut at any rate and will bear no more cherries. Mr. Cole was wrought up over it and the law made and provided for such cases was explained by His Honor to the boy who promised to do better hereafter and was released on his own recognizance.

We are not aware that the boy denied cutting the cherry tree and possibly he may be another George Washington. We withhold his name and will wait and see.

Mrs. Martin D. Dale is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Willis, in Montreal. Charles A. Willey, formerly of Norway, has moved his family from Bethel to Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tarr and Masters Ernest and Fred have returned from Nova Scotia and are at their cottage Nerve-Basse by Lake Pennesseewassee. Later it is understood they will occupy the rent in Dr. A. N. French's residence.

Nathaniel Gammon has been carrying his left hand in a sling for a week or ten days past. He was experimenting with a double-knife miter box, got the hand too near the projecting corner of the knives and sustained a bad cut of the palm in front of the thumb.

Cyrus M. Buck has returned from Burlington, Vt., where he spent a fortnight with his son, Seaver Buck, at the latter's cottage on Lake Champlain. While there he had some delightful steamboat excursions on the lake. Seaver Buck is sub-master of Hackley Hall, a large private school at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Horne and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Horne made several delightful visits with the Messrs. Horne's sister, Mrs. Rose Drake, and her husband, Dr. Wm. A. Drake, at the George Horne cottage by Lake Pennesseewassee. Dr. and Mrs. Drake returned to North Weymouth, the last of the week.

Letter to Geo. H. Bennett.

Dear Sir: One coat of Devos is better than two of mixed paint.

The American House at Tannersville, (Catskill Mts.) N. Y., Chas. L. Willes, had two coats of Mixed Paint five years ago; last spring had two more coats of the same.

Owner was going to use Devos but got his Mixed Paint a few cents less.

Right across the street, Charles Hansen painted one coat of Devos at the same time—last spring.

The Hansen house is the better job; but wait five years.

The point of the story is that Willes is sorry already. He has learned something that not one man in a thousand knows—that a gallon of one kind of paint can contain twice as much paint as a gallon of another kind of paint.

You can't afford to put on another paint even if you have it given to you. At the same time, you see, that Mixed Paint appears to have worn five years—give the devil his due.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devos & Co.
P. S.—F. F. Stone sells our paint in your section.

Bethel Fair Called Off.

Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 12, were rainy days. Friday was pleasant but the ground was so wet as to make racing and exhibiting both impossible. The officers of the association consulted with the other interested parties and it was decided to adjourn the fair sine die.

Thursday, despite the wet, one race was trotted and another attempted. In the 2:45 class, the first money was won by Marjorie, a bay mare, owned by Charles Jenkins of Lewiston, she taking the three heats in 2:32 $\frac{1}{2}$, 2:34 and 2:35 $\frac{1}{2}$ respectively. Second money was won by Jim Dandy, owned by R. O. Jordan, third by Fanny Vale, owned by A. H. Jack of Fryeburg; fourth by King Croix, owned by L. U. Bartlett of Bethel. In the two heats of the 2:38 class Leighton, owned by C. A. Smith, of Portland, won the first heat and Cecil H. owned by A. H. Jack, the second. This race was not completed on account of rain.

Benefits from Fairs.

Exhibits at the Fairs.
Of all the methods employed in advertising wares of any kind none approaches the public exhibition in the matter of actual cash returns. We have been strenuous in our advocacy of the use of printers' ink in acquainting the people with an enterprise of any kind and have always made liberal use of it in any undertaking we have tried to promote. This in connection with the public exhibition of wares that are for sale as object lessons to be promoted, makes a strong combination. This suggestion applies with special force in the sale of stock and in advertising the natural resources of a town or county.

We are aware that there is great expense in fitting a herd of cattle, sheep or horses for exhibition at a fair, and the cost of attendants and transportation is no small item. Even when the blue ribbons are won and the cash prizes secured there may be a deficiency to be met. An advertisement has been placed that could have been secured in no other way. We do not understand how a breeder of stock for sale can afford not to exhibit at fairs within a reasonable distance of his place whether he will meet any premiums or not, for he will meet the very people he desires to secure as customers and have an opportunity to advocate his wares that could be secured in no other way. This plan should be adopted not only for state and county fairs, but for township fairs as well.

Pick out the best of the flock and herds and go to the fairs now being held and you will be the gainer by it and your town and state will be gainers also.

At the Fair.

The County Fair affords an opportunity to mingle with farmers and compare notes on the condition, prospect and outlook of the different interests of the farm as realized or looked upon from the different standpoints of the individuals. As plainly as the mercury marks the temperature of the weather, the feelings of the farmers indicate the standard of the results of the efforts being put forth in the business in which they are engaged and on which they are dependent for whatever of prosperity is being measured out to them.

It was an interesting feature at this time to witness the free and easy satisfaction felt by every farmer met at this fair over the present condition of farming and its outlook in the near future. Bams are full, the corn is in every section of the state, pasturage is good and grass still growing as rapidly as in June; cattle are sleek and fat and demand is active and prices high; corn is making a growth rarely known and yielding returns seldom equaled; grain, Hungarian, and all forage crops are yielding a bounty altogether beyond calculations when the seed was put into the ground and above all present necessities, while the end is not yet.

Copious rains and torrid heat are still putting in their effects though the summer calendar has run its measure. All nature is as fresh, as green and as inviting as in early summer, though the Bartlett and Sweetbushes are ripening their fruits in the orchards. Business in all lines is active, everybody is at work on good wages, and demand active for all wants of a prosperous people. Certainly the farmer, with others, has a right to be glad that the summer has been so successful in every movement. There never was a better all-around outlook for the active farmer, and not only for the immediate present but that cannot fail of being realized for a time to come.

These autumn festivals, therefore, may well be the occasion to give full and free expression, by act and deed, to the gladness that everywhere about us so plentifully abounds.

Real Live Wild Moose in Lovell.

W. S. Fox, one of the Lovell selectmen, and Geo. W. Andrews, of that town, were in Bethel, Saturday, on business. They report that Perley McKee of North Lovell saw two moose, last Friday. The moose travelled from the barrens almost to McKee's house, two or three miles.

Several persons have seen moose in the north portion of that town and in West Stoneham, this summer. Mrs. Andrews has taken two photographs of moose.

Lieut. Peary Heard From.

Peary's Arctic steamer Erik arrived at North Sydney, C. B., Sept. 13, and brought the news that Peary was well. Mrs. Peary and daughter were held prisoners in the ice near Cape Sabine for eight months, till July 3. The Windward then took Mrs. Peary to Etah.

Peary's winter quarters for 1890-1900. There she awaited the Erik which arrived, Aug. 14. It was then that Peary heard of the death of his mother, that occurred last November, and of his daughter who died about 8 months before. Mrs. Peary will return to Maine, but Lieut. Peary has not had enough of the Arctic regions and he will still continue his attempts to reach the North Pole.

A NOTED PHYSICIAN, OPEN FOR THE FAIR.

Doctor Wanata, of Lansing, Mich.,

Says There is Nothing in the Materia Medica that Equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the Cure of Woman's Ills.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—The honest, intelligent physician is above the 'School.' Whatever is best in each case should be used, no matter to what school a physician belongs. I, as a matter of conscience, can only prescribe the best, and as I know and have proven that there is nothing in Materia Medica which equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female disorders, I unhesitatingly prescribe it, and have never yet been sorry.

"I know of nothing better for ovarian troubles and for falling of the womb or ulcerations; it absolutely restores the affected parts to their normal condition quicker and better than anything else. I have known it to cure barrenness in women, who to-day are happy mothers of children, and while the medical profession looks down upon 'patents,' I have learned, instead, to look-up to the healing potion, by whatever name it be known. If my fellow physicians dared tell the truth, hundreds of them would voice my sentiments."—DR. WANATA, Lansing, Mich.

DR. WANATA.

As Dr. Wanata says, if physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ill, as they know by experience that it can be relied upon to effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had such a vast and successful experience in treating female ill. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried hundreds of women through the periods of child bearing and change of life in perfect comfort and safety.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced.

It is well to remember these facts when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so do not experiment with untried medicines.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

About the Fair Grounds.

Seen on Monday Morning.
 Nobody had time to enjoy the good weather. They used it, that was all. An air of bustle and activity seemed every where.

Secretary King was too busy to chat, just a nod of recognition and then he kept on at work.

In the upper hall committees of the Grange at South Paris and West Paris were working on their Grange exhibits. Each has a quarter of the central space next the north end of the hall.

The horsemen were grooming or speeding their animals. Eighty horses on the grounds, much the largest field ever assembled here, and not a poor one in the lot. Pedigrees and records, and future performances and ringers were the topics of conversation among the horsemen. There seemed to be an unusual amount of talk about ringers and a large number have definite suspicions about instances of that form of race track trickery. But it was all suspicion, and nobody would give information for publication.

Near the Entrance.

Here are not only the exhibition hall with its two stories full of wonderful things, but the principal restaurants are here in good wooden buildings built for permanency.

The new building in the farther corner of the open has been fitted up as a check room with up-to-date fixtures. Mervie Maxim and Susie Wheeler of South Paris take charge of it.

The first restaurant belongs to the society and is leased to Mrs. Albee of Lewiston. This is the long, low reddish brown building between the entrances for teams and foot passengers.

Alongside of exhibition hall is the headquarters of Oxford County Women's Christian Temperance Union, managed by the Unions of Norway, South Paris and West Paris. They not only distribute temperance literature but they give a cup of cool clear crystal spring water to him who is thirsty.

South Paris Congregationalist circle has the same restaurant that has in years past grown familiar to the cattle show throngs. It is their own building, and the largest victualing place on the grounds.

Norway Congregationalist circle also has a building of their own and are old standbys to the folks that come to the fair and want something to eat.

Norway Universalist circle is a later comer but has earned a good reputation among the hungry.

Twitchell Brothers of Oxford are known all through this region as dealers in choice fruits. They sell fruits and peanuts (stocked up for this occasion with thirty-five bushels of peanuts) besides dealing out hot baked beans and accessories.

Lovejoy from Oxford adorns the front of his eating house at the beginning of the fair with the big yellow pumpkins and squashes that are made into pies for consumption during the progress of the show.

Down Amusement Row.

As you go to the grounds there is seen a wide open square bordered by the permanent restaurant buildings, the exhibition hall and the main sanitary building.

First beyond this square is O. W. Spencer, the candy maker, in a strong blue and white striped tent.

W. L. O'Connor came down from Coos county to see what he could do at a State of Maine fair with a stock of fruits, etc.

Fremont's dog show has a lively dog show with illusions, magic and singing to keep things moving. There are five people in this troupe. Madame Fremont also reads your palm while you wait and tells all about your future matrimony and other troubles.

Gus Roy from Old Orchard is here with his great array of canes and prizes for those skilled in throwing rings or baseball or firing the rifles. He rejoiced to have a good breeze blowing as it meant a saving in his prizes, and also stirs people up to try their luck.

Frank H. Beck, the Bazaar man from corner of Main and Cottage streets in Norway, has a good stand for sale of confectionery and soft drinks. Frank is a good fellow and the home folks patronize him for they know his goods are O. K.

B. D. Dow has a little stand where he appeases the appetites of the sightseers. Archie T. Heath of Gilead set up the same merry-go-round on which children of the nineteenth century used to frolic. Those same children are here again in the twentieth century and there is no lack of riders for the flying horses.

F. S. Walker and wife from Newkirk, N. J., have spent a vacation at the Andrews House and are running a cane rack and other attractions for the boys that like a game of chance.

W. W. Kerrigan from Portland has a large tent for the sale of soft drinks and frankfurters. "Brickyard Slim Marx" is with him and his slim bones are hollow. That last statement is proved by his capacity for drinking sarsaparilla. He and another fakir had a match to see who could drink the medicine and Slim came out ahead with a consumption of three dozen bottles of Murdock & Freeman's Sarsaparilla in two hours.

H. Dalton is another Portland man with the frankfurters and the bottled stuff. He swapped wagons with young Kerrigan and got 50 cents to boot, the Israelite winning in the dicker.

"Doc" Lakin and Henry Downs from Norway set up images of Cleopatra and Helen of Troy for the base ball enthusiasts to try their skill before.

Jack Langlois is another man who has been here a good many times and still smiles as he invites the crowd to try a base ball at Bo-Humbo, Jumbo, Sambo, etc.

The shooting gallery accident at Lewiston has furnished material for lots of conversation along the midway. Fakirs agree with the public that it was gross carelessness to place the galleries so that rifles would be fired toward a street with no better guard than a board fence, and also say that too powerful cartridges were used. There is no danger of such an accident here. Back of the fence along which are the shooting galleries is a heavy growth of wood, where no one is likely to come, and the ground is also descending so that any one there would be out of range.

Lovejoy from Oxford adorns the front of his eating house at the beginning of the fair with the big yellow pumpkins and squashes that are made into pies for consumption during the progress of the show.

Down Amusement Row.

As you go to the grounds there is seen a wide open square bordered by the permanent restaurant buildings, the exhibition hall and the main sanitary building.

First beyond this square is O. W. Spencer, the candy maker, in a strong blue and white striped tent.

W. L. O'Connor came down from Coos county to see what he could do at a State of Maine fair with a stock of fruits, etc.

Fremont's dog show has a lively dog show with illusions, magic and singing to keep things moving. There are five people in this troupe. Madame Fremont also reads your palm while you wait and tells all about your future matrimony and other troubles.

Gus Roy from Old Orchard is here with his great array of canes and prizes for those skilled in throwing rings or baseball or firing the rifles. He rejoiced to have a good breeze blowing as it meant a saving in his prizes, and also stirs people up to try their luck.

Frank H. Beck, the Bazaar man from corner of Main and Cottage streets in Norway, has a good stand for sale of confectionery and soft drinks. Frank is a good fellow and the home folks patronize him for they know his goods are O. K.

B. D. Dow has a little stand where he appeases the appetites of the sightseers. Archie T. Heath of Gilead set up the same merry-go-round on which children of the nineteenth century used to frolic. Those same children are here again in the twentieth century and there is no lack of riders for the flying horses.
